Sara Burden of Walden Businesses, Inc., said, "Working with the owners of AF&S and McMaverick was an educational experience for me in that both parties had to work through multiple layers of red tape in order to transfer the government contracts. They did so with a great deal of patience and professionalism. I commend the owners of both companies for their tenacity throughout the process. I also greatly appreciate what they as individuals gave up while serving our great country. It was my pleasure to assist each of them in achieving their goals."
